

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report provides an overview of the occurrence and ramifications of domestic and sexual violence in the state of Utah. The information included in this report was made possible with the collaboration and support of multiple agencies, including:

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE COURTS

UTAH CHILDREN'S JUSTICE CENTERS

UTAH COALITION AGAINST SEXUAL ASSAULT

UTAH COMMISSION ON CRIMINAL AND JUVENILE JUSTICE

UTAH DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, VIOLENCE AND INJURY PREVENTION PROGRAM

UTAH DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES, DIVISION OF CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICES

UTAH DOMESTIC VIOLENCE COALITION

UTAH OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME

Domestic and sexual violence are two of the most serious violent crimes in Utah. Countless victims and survivors of domestic and sexual violence are enduring life threatening situations and suffer impacts which seriously reduce their quality of life. Domestic violence and rape and sexual assault affect all races, ethnic groups, educational levels, social and economic classes, religions, gender and physical and intellectual abilities. For many people, these crimes are hidden and rarely discussed in public. Many individuals will not recognize this violence as a public health issue that significantly impacts communities, families, and individuals. It is not mentioned in our conversations and that silence contributes to the continuation of domestic and sexual violence.

Domestic violence is characterized as a systematic pattern of physical, sexual, verbal, emotional, and psychological abuse, which is predominantly directed by men against women. This pattern of abuse may also include financial and spiritual abuse and threats of violence. Rather than a series of independent acts or events, it is most often part of a process in which the perpetrator maintains control and domination over the victim with whom he/she has a cohabitant or intimate relationship. Domestic violence-related death cases included in this report demonstrate a correlation between domestic violence and the death of the victim as demonstrated by corroborating public information. Domestic violence is observed between 1) cohabitants, 2) persons in dating relationships, and 3) family members not defined within the cohabitant statute.

Sexual violence is characterized as any time a person is forced, coerced, and/or manipulated into any attempted or completed unwanted sexual contact. Victims of sexual violence can experience physical and psychological health issues. Physical injuries can include bruises, broken bones, chronic pelvic pain, and/or back pain. Sexual violence can not only result in transmission of sexual infection, and/or unwanted pregnancy, it can also result in emotional harm. A victim of sexual violence may develop Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, or experience depression, guilt, anxiety, embarrassment, flashbacks, fear or emotional detachment that can continue long after the assault.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

In 2012, 29 Utahns lost their lives to domestic violence-related causes. Many more were sheltered, abused, and entered the court system as a result of domestic and sexual violence. Information gathered for this report reveal the reality of the situation in this state. A total of 3,114 women, men, and children were sheltered in 15 Utah domestic violence shelters last year. Individuals entering shelters are staying for longer periods of time. The average number of days per episode of stay in a Utah shelter has been climbing since (FY) 2009, when the average stay was 24 days; in (FY) 2011 the average number of days per episode of stay was 29.9.

The Utah Violent Death Reporting System (UTVDRS) and the Domestic Violence Fatality Review Committee

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

(DVFR) have been instrumental in the surveillance and comprehensive review of domestic violence-related homicides, in addition to the development of recommendations for future prevention efforts. Between 2000 and 2011, domestic violence-related homicides accounted for an average of 41.7% of all adult homicides. During this time period, there were a total of 226 domestic violence-related homicides in the state of Utah. Between 2005 and 2008 domestic violence-related suicides accounted for 2.3 deaths per 100,000 adults. Although it has been shown that females attempt suicide more often than males, males had a significantly higher rate of domestic violence-related suicide compared to females between 2005 and 2008.

The 2008 Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) surveyed females 18 years and older in Utah about experience with Intimate Partner Violence (IPV), which was defined as hitting, slapping, pushing, kicking, or hurting in any way, perpetrated by any current or former spouse, boyfriend, or girlfriend; anyone the interviewee was dating; or anyone with whom the interviewee was romantically or sexually intimate. Survey data from 2008 showed that overall, 14.2% of females reported experiencing IPV in their lifetime; females 45-54 and 55-64 years old had statistically higher reported lifetime IPV prevalence.

DATING VIOLENCE

Domestic and sexual violence do not just affect Utah adults; teens and children report violence and abuse at numbers consistent with national rates. The Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System (YRBSS) surveys 9th through 12th grade students every two years. In 2011, it was found that 11.8% of Utah high school student respondents reported that they were hit, slapped, or physically hurt on purpose by a boyfriend or girlfriend during the 12 months prior to the survey. That same year, 7.9% of high school student respondents reported that they had ever been physically forced to have sexual intercourse when they did not want to during the 12 months prior to the survey.

CHILD ABUSE

In Utah, Children's Justice Centers (CJCs) provide children (17 years of age and younger) and their families with victim resources and referrals for support services, including medical services and therapy during abuse investigations. In (FY) 2012, 13,548 people received services through Utah's CJCs. That same year, 70.7% of the total 5,455 reported victimizations were child sexual abuse cases.

SEXUAL VIOLENCE

Domestic and sexual violence occurring in childhood and adolescence has been found to indicate a higher likelihood of victimization in adulthood, as well as put individuals at higher risk for a host of other negative outcomes. In 2010, the ACE (adverse childhood experience) Study, a collaboration between the Kaiser Health Plans' Health Appraisal Center and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), surveyed Utah residents 18 years and older and found that females were significantly more likely to have experienced some form of sexual abuse as a children compared to males. The more ACEs an individual experienced, the more likely they were to have experienced rape or attempted rape. Overall, 6.8% of Utahns reported rape or attempted rape in their lifetime in 2010. Multiple resources exist in Utah for rape prevention, advocacy, and response, including the Utah Coalition Against Sexual Assault (UCASA), which provided rape crisis advocacy training to 200 individuals in 2012.

COURTS

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provided data for this report regarding cohabitant abuse and domestic violence cases, temporary and permanent protective order filings, and criminal stalking cases. Following a decline in cohabitant abuse cases filed between 2002 and 2007, the number of cohabitant abuse cases has leveled out over the past seven years. Cohabitant abuse is defined as abuse between people who have lived together, are related by blood or marriage, or have a biological child in common. Cohabitant abuse cases filings are a civil case type where a petition for a protective order is filed; a total of 4,883 cohabitant abuse cases were filed in 2012. In the same year, the number of temporary protective orders issued dropped to the lowest number in over 10 years, for a total of 4,016 orders.

REMEMBER ME 2012

The Utah Domestic Violence Coalition compiles information on domestic violence related deaths from public sources statewide. To be listed, case specific information must demonstrate a correlation between domestic violence and the death of the victim as demonstrated by corroborating public information. From public information available, domestic violence is observed between 1) cohabitants, 2) persons in dating relationships, and 3) family members not defined within the cohabitant statute.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

A total of 3,114 women, men and children were sheltered in 15 Utah domestic violence shelters last year. The data in FIGURE 1 represent individuals who entered a domestic violence shelter. Men women and children are represented in the data since FY 2007. The number of women and children housed increased slightly over the last six years. When children enter the shelter with their parents, the parent is considered the primary client.

Data Source: Division of Child and Family Services

Shelter guests stayed a total of 108,029 days in 2012. The data in FIGURE 2 represent the total number of days clients, (men, women and children) stayed in one of the 15 shelters statewide during the fiscal year. The number of days is calculated using the start and end dates of each episode for each person. The average number of days per episode has increased from 24 days in FY 2009 to 26 days in 2010 to 29-9 days in FY 2011. This increase suggests that individuals entering shelter are staying in shelter for longer periods of time. This increase may be the result of ongoing economic challenges that make the process of transitioning from shelter to a more long term housing situation more difficult.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

In Utah, domestic violence in the presence of a child is considered child abuse. Utah recognizes the significant risks to children who are exposed to domestic violence. The Utah Division of Child and Family Services (DCFS) is an agency of the Utah Department of Human Services. DCFS directly services families and children impacted by domestic violence. Specifically, the DCFS Child Protective Services team (CPS) provides assessment and referral services to individuals and families impacted by domestic violence. DCFS is guided by a mission statement aimed at keeping children safe from abuse and neglect and providing domestic violence services by working with communities and strengthening families.

DCFS is responsible for the distribution of Federal and State resources to domestic violence shelters. DCFS provides direct intervention to families experiencing challenges associated with allegation of domestic violence as well as support to children and families with allegations of sexual abuse. The Division also provides referral to community services and treatment for children and families exposed to domestic violence and sexual abuse.

The Bureau of Criminal Identification (BCI) is mandated to collect and publish crime statistics. BCI publishes an annual report that contains data collected from law enforcement agencies. The data is reported to BCI in two formats, summary and incident based reporting (IBR). The summary data only represents the most serious offense reported in an incident, while IBR will represent all the offenses reported in an incident. Because IBR collects details about the offenses, victims, offenders, property and arrests involved in each crime incident, it is possible to analyze various aspects of the crime occurring in our society.

Not all law enforcement agencies in Utah report using the IBR format, therefore statistics based on IBR do not represent the entire population of Utah. Out of 142 total law enforcement agencies, 75 agencies submitted IBR data and 9 agencies did not submit data either to the summary or IBR programs. These data are compiled from the 2012 Preliminary Report and the data may change when the final report is published.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

INCIDENT BASED REPORTING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE ANALYSIS

Domestic Violence is not a specific offense in IBR reporting. Data is compiled by using the offense and the relationship between the victim and offender. The chart below shows the total number of incidents reported by IBR agencies in Utah committed by family members by year.

TABLE 1 lists offenses reported by IBR agencies in 2012 by the type of victim, where a family or intimate relationship was indicated. The most common relationship reported is boyfriend or girlfriend (30%), followed by spouse (17%). If common-law spouses, ex-spouses, and homosexual relationships are added, intimate partners accounted for over half (50%) of the total offenses involving family members.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

IBR data also provide information on the types of injuries suffered by victims of domestic violence during the offenses listed in TABLE 1. TABLE 2 provides data on injuries suffered during these incidents. Multiple injuries could be recorded for a single incident if multiple injuries occurred. The most likely outcome of these offenses was no injury (58%), followed by apparent minor injuries (38%).

Finally, IBR data can be used to analyze the types of weapons that are used in domestic violence incidents. The following table includes information on only those incidents where a weapon was used. Multiple weapons could be reported if more than one weapon was used. Personal weapons, which would include hands or feet, were the most commonly reported (82%).

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE FATALITY REVIEW AND UTAH VIOLENT DEATH REPORTING SYSTEM

The Utah Violent Death Reporting System (UTVDRS) is an incident-based system that collects detailed information from death certificates, medical examiner records, police reports, crime lab records, and supplemental homicide reports on all violent deaths in Utah. Homicides, suicides, deaths of undetermined intent, unintentional firearm-related deaths, and deaths due to legal intervention are all considered violent deaths for the purpose of the data collection.

An intimate partner violence module is included in UTVDRS to collect data specific to cases reviewed by the Domestic Violence Fatality Review Committee (DVFRC). The DVFRC has been in existence for more than nine years and currently is reviewing cases from 2010. The DVFRC meets regularly to provide a comprehensive review of domestic violence-related homicides and develop recommendations for future prevention efforts. The following are the DVFRC's domestic violence-related homicide and suicide definitions:

Domestic Violence-related Homicide

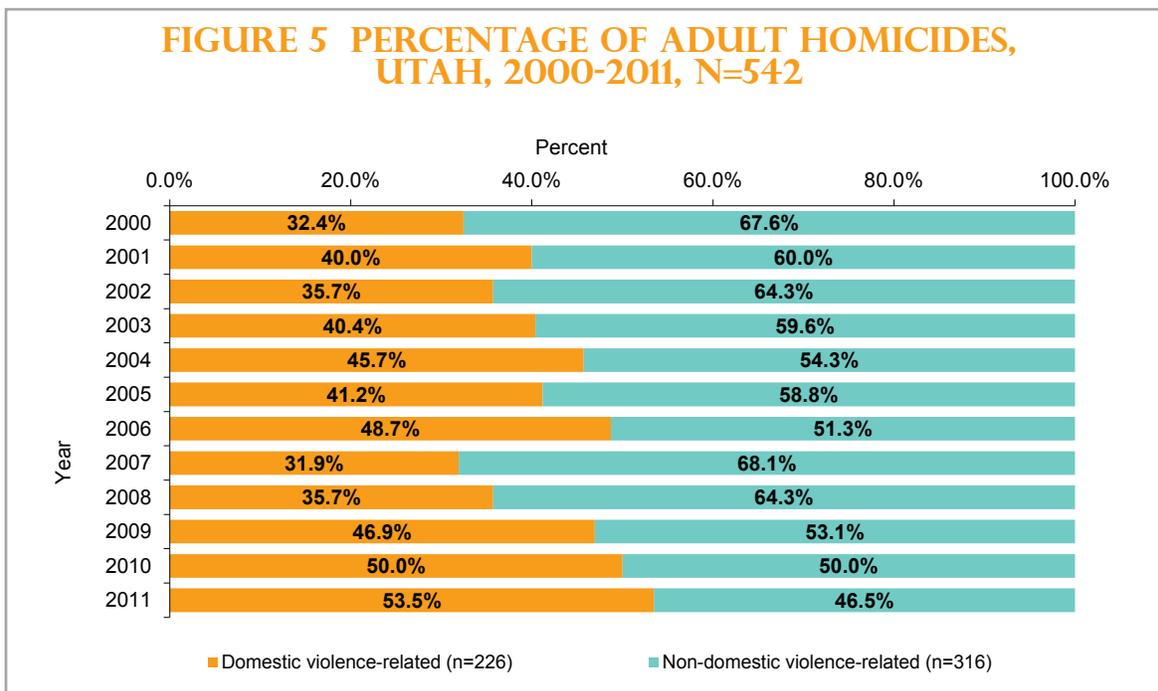

1. The victim is 18 years or older at the time of death;
2. The manner of death is designated as a homicide by the Office of the Medical Examiner or a suspect is charged with criminal homicide by law enforcement; and
3. The relationship of the victim and suspect can include:
 - a. Current or former intimate partner;
 - b. Cohabitants (roommates); or
 - c. Family members (including in-laws, stepparents, stepchildren, stepsiblings, current or former intimate partner family members, and foster parents or children).

Domestic Violence-related Suicide

1. The victim is 18 years or older at the time of death;
2. The manner of death is designated as a suicide by the Office of the Medical Examiner;
3. The incident includes violence or the threat of violence between:
 - a. Current or former intimate partners;
 - b. Cohabitants (roommates); or
 - c. Family members (including in-laws, stepparents, stepchildren, stepsiblings, current or former intimate partner family members, and foster parents or children); and
4. The incident includes one of the following circumstances:
 - a. Intimate partner problem;
 - b. Other relationship problem;
 - c. Perpetrator of interpersonal violence in the past month; or
 - d. Victim of interpersonal violence in the past month.

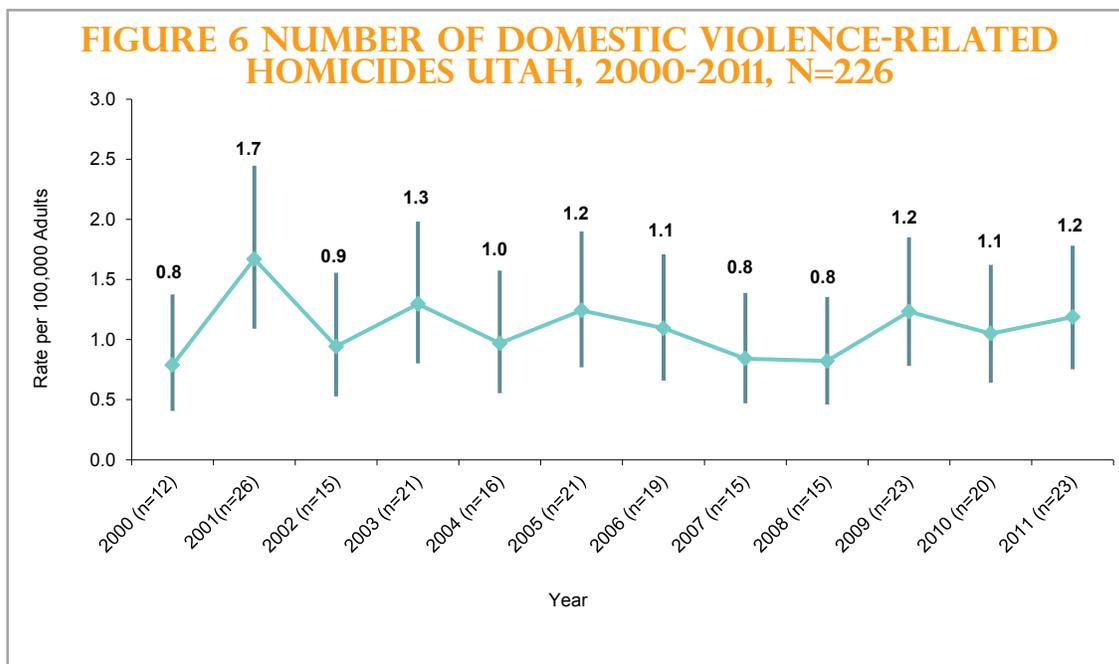

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

FIGURE 5 represents the percentage of adult domestic violence-related homicides among all adult homicides. Since 2000, domestic violence-related homicides accounted for approximately 41.7% of adult homicides.

Data Source: Utah Department of Health

The data in FIGURE 6 represent the Utah domestic violence-related homicide rate per 100,000 persons 18 years and older from 2000-2011 according to the DVFR definition. During this period, there were a total of 226 domestic violence-related homicides for an average of 19 deaths per year. Domestic violence-related homicides peaked in 2001 with a rate of 1.7 per 100,000 adults; however, there were no significant differences in domestic violence-related homicides from 2000 to 2011.

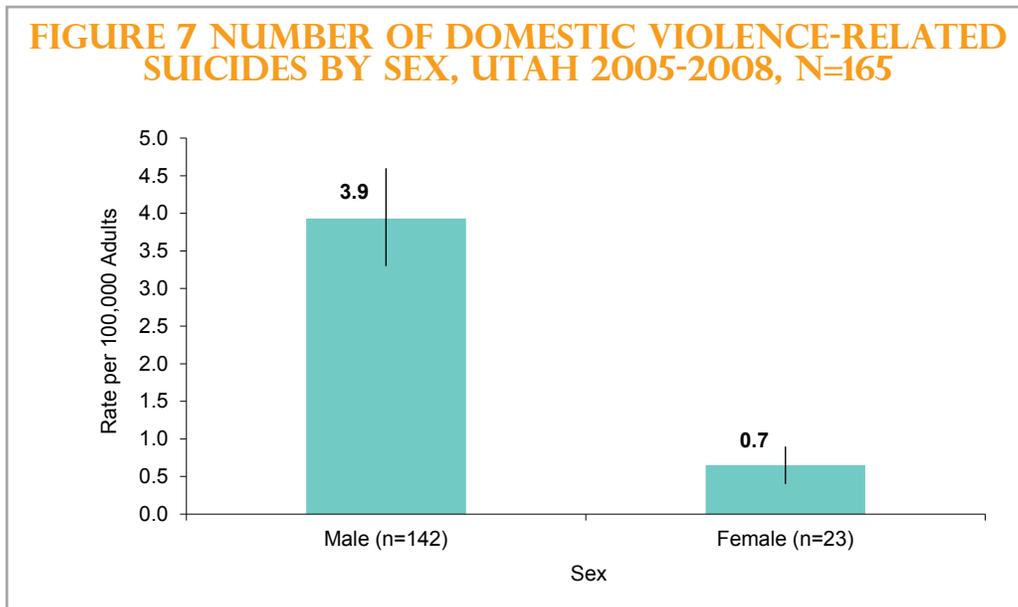

Data Source: Utah Department of Health

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

The data in FIGURE 7 represent the Utah domestic violence-related suicide rate per 100,000 persons 18 years and older by sex from 2005 to 2008. Research has shown that females attempt suicide more often, but males tend to complete suicide more often. In Utah, males were more likely to die from a DV-related suicide compared to females and had a significantly higher rate of DV-related suicides than females.

The DV-related suicide victims ranged in age from 19-88 years old. The data in FIGURE 8 represent the domestic violence-related suicide rate by age group from 2005 to 2008. When compared to the state rate of 2.3 per 100,000 adults, persons 55 years and older had a statistically lower rate at 1.1 per 100,000 adults. There were no significant differences in the other age groups. The average age of victims who died from DV-related suicide was 39 years old.

The data in FIGURE 8 represent the domestic violence-related suicide rate by age group from 2005 to 2008. When compared to the state rate of 2.3 per 100,000 adults, persons 65 years and older had a statistically lower rate at 0.8 per 100,000 adults. There were no significant differences in the other age groups.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

UTAH BEHAVIORAL RISK FACTOR SURVEILLANCE SYSTEM

The Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) tracks health conditions and risk behaviors in the United States. The Utah BRFSS is conducted by the Office of Public Health Assessment at the Utah Department of Health. In 2008, questions regarding Intimate Partner Violence (IPV) were asked of females 18 years and older. An intimate partner included any current or former spouse, boyfriend, or girlfriend. Anyone the interviewee was dating, romantically intimate, or sexually intimate with, was also considered an intimate partner.

Overall, 14.2% of females reported experiencing IPV in their lifetime. The data in FIGURE 9 show the percentage of adult females by age group who reported that an intimate partner had ever hit, slapped, pushed, kicked, or hurt them in any way. Females 45-54 years of age (19.2%) and 55-64 years of age (22.2%) had a statistically higher reported lifetime prevalence of IPV compared to the state prevalence of IPV of 14.2%. Females 65 years and older had a statistically lower reported lifetime prevalence of IPV compared to the state prevalence of IPV (8.3% and 14.2%, respectively).

Data Source: Utah Department of Health

*Insufficient number of cases to meet the Utah Department of Health standard for data reliability. Interpret with caution.

Of the females who reported IPV, 7.8% indicated that they had experienced IPV in the past 12 months. Of these females, 38.5%* reported that they had sustained physical injuries such as bruises, cuts, scrapes, a black eye, or broken bone as a result of the physical violence. Of the perpetrators, 39.1% were husbands or a live-in male partner, 27.2% were former husbands or former live-in partners, and 25.7% were former boyfriends.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

"The purpose of the Utah Domestic Violence Coalition is to provide education, support and technical assistance to primary purpose domestic violence service providers in the state in order to establish and maintain shelter and supportive services for victims of domestic violence and their dependents.

The Coalition serves as an information clearinghouse, primary point of contact, and resource center on domestic violence for the State and supports the development of policies, protocols, and procedures to enhance domestic violence intervention and prevention in the State.

A primary purpose domestic violence service provider is one that operates a project of demonstrated effectiveness, carried out by a nonprofit, nongovernmental, private entity or a tribe or tribal organization, that has as its project's primary purpose the operation of shelters for victims of domestic violence and their dependents; or provides counseling, advocacy, or self-help services to victims of domestic violence. These services are based on a community based survivor empowerment model.

Domestic Violence is also referred to as Intimate Partner Violence and it is widely recognised that sexual assault often occurs within domestically violent relationships and between intimate partners. It should be understood therefore that the majority of programs serving domestic violence victims in Utah are therefore dual programs also serving victims of sexual assault. Beyond shelter the dv/sa programs offer a range of trauma informed integrated services to promote healing and strengthen families.

The UDVC is also a direct service provider to some of the most marginalised communities in the state. Our Linkline provides 24/7 support to victims, friends, family and professionals encountering domestic violence; all calls are entirely confidential and support can be provided in multiple languages. In 2011/12 the DV Linkline served 4711 people and supported more than 1500 children with information and resources.

UDVC provided face to face training to over 900 local community members across the state and 228 individuals accessed our web based training in 2011/12. Trainings cover the dynamics of domestic violence, trauma informed advocacy and issues concerning safety and protection of children. These trainings are accessed by, and can be tailored to, victim advocates, private therapists, Department of Human Services staff, law enforcement, prosecutors etc. Specialised trainings and resources are also offered concerning such issues as workplace violence, bullying, stalking, elder abuse, abuse of persons with disabilities and perpetrator accountability.

In addition the UDVC hosts a conference which presents an opportunity for a broad base of interested stakeholders to come together to hear about promising practices and national best practices to enhance the safety of victims of violence and their children. In 2011/12 over 300 participants attended this conference.

The UDVC works with a variety of community partners to eliminate domestic violence by addressing cultural oppression and marginalisation to effect social change. There are 33 local domestic violence coalitions located across the state that assist in community prevention and education initiatives supported by the UDVC. Outreach is provided to a variety of underserved communities including refugee communities, polygamist groups, native tribes, LGBTQ and the military among others.

The UDVC and its member programs regularly offer community trainings such as our faith based trainings, trainings concerning the effects of violence on children, dating violence and healthy relationships. Our website has a plethora of resources on the prevention of intimate partner violence and how to remain safe and healthy.

DATING VIOLENCE

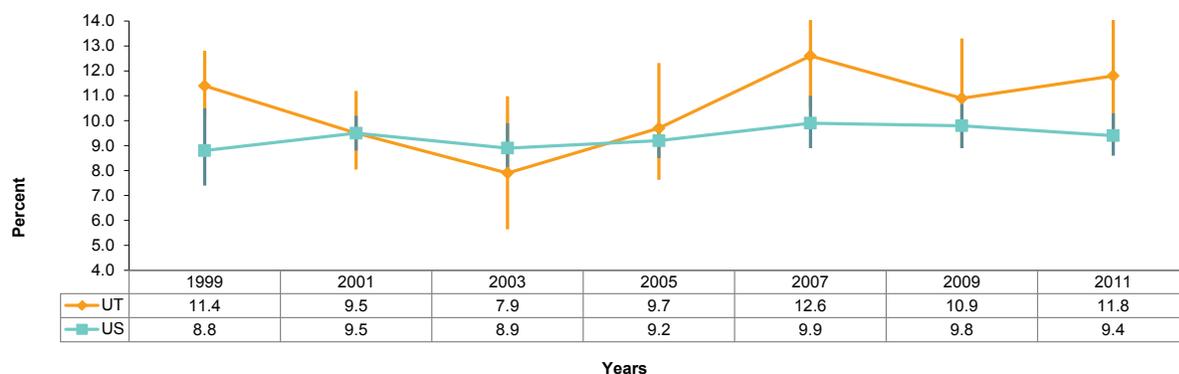

UTAH YOUTH RISK BEHAVIOR SURVEILLANCE SYSTEM

The Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System (YRBSS) monitors priority health risk behaviors that contribute to the leading causes of death, disability, and social problems among youth and adults in the United States. The Utah YRBSS is conducted every two years and provides data representative of 9th through 12th grade students in public schools throughout Utah.

Data in FIGURE 10 show the percentage of Utah students who reported they were hit, slapped, or physically hurt on purpose by their boyfriend or girlfriend during the 12 months before the survey compared to the U.S. There are no significant differences in percentages between Utah and the U.S. from 1999 to 2011.

Data in FIGURE 11 compare the percentage of students who experienced IPV by gender from 1999 to 2011. There were no significant differences of reported IPV by males and females. In 2007, Utah high school students overall reported the highest prevalence of experiencing violence from a boyfriend or girlfriend since 1999 at 12.6%. The lowest prevalence was in 2003 at 7.9%.

Data in FIGURE 12 show the percentage of Utah students who had ever been physically forced to have sexual intercourse when they did not want to during the 12 months before the survey compared to the U.S. There are no significant differences in percentages between Utah and the U.S. from 2003-2011.

Data in FIGURE 13 compare the percentage of male and female students who experienced forced sexual intercourse from 2003 to 2011. There were no significant differences of reported forced sexual intercourse between male and female students. In 2007, Utah high school female students reported the highest prevalence of experiencing forced sexual intercourse at 14.2%. The lowest prevalence was in 2005 at 8.1%.

CHILD ABUSE

UTAH'S CHILDREN'S JUSTICE CENTERS

Utah's Children's Justice Centers (CJCs) provide a child-friendly atmosphere designed to help children feel safe and comfortable while they are being interviewed regarding alleged abuse. Specially trained professionals talk to children about the alleged abuse they have experienced. Audio and video equipment is used to preserve the interview for evidence and reduce the need for multiple interviews.

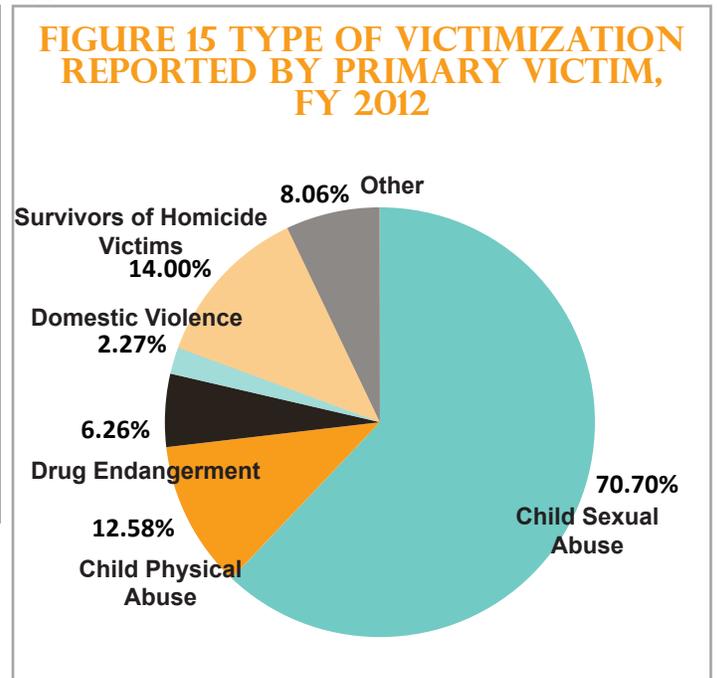

Professionals from several different agencies collaborate on each child's case. This multidisciplinary team approach increases coordination among child protection and criminal justice agencies, allowing them to track a child's progress through the investigation, judicial process, and treatment. In addition to facilitating its multidisciplinary team, each center provides children and families with victim resources and referrals for support services, including medical services and therapy.

There are currently 17 CJCs and 3 CJC satellites in the state. The centers are administered by the Utah Children's Justice Center Program, which is housed in the Utah Attorney General's Office. As public/private partnerships, CJCs are supported by many sources, including state funding, local government funding, federal funding, and private donations. The program contracts with counties for the operation of the CJCs. It also contracts with Primary Children's Medical Center to provide forensic medical exams as needed.

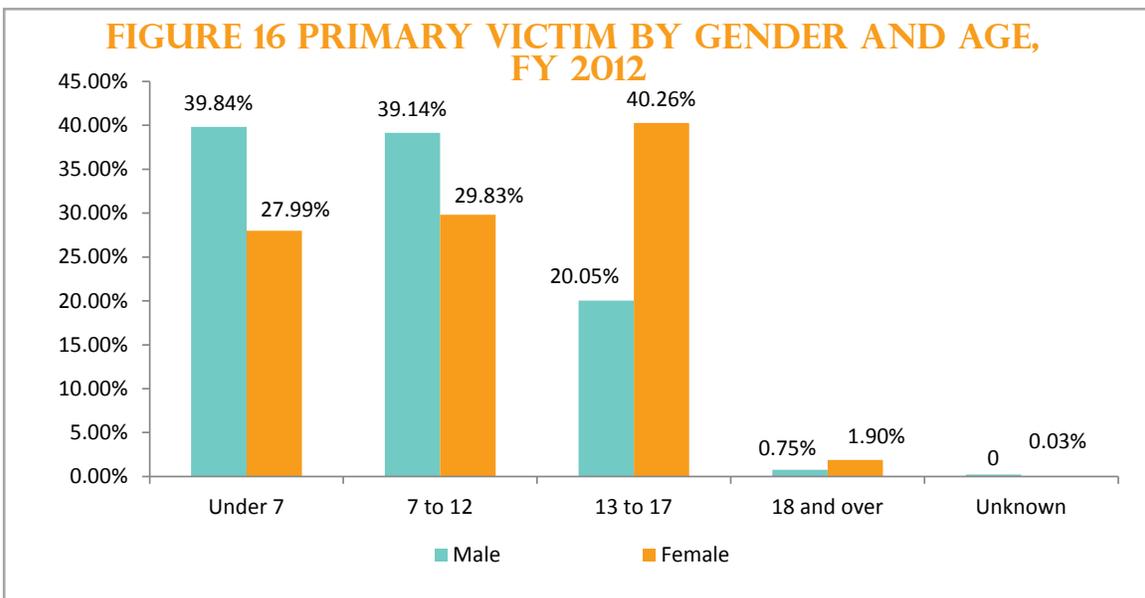

FIGURE 14 represents the FY 2012 where 5,455 cases were opened, 5,107 interviews were conducted, 1,261 exams were provided, and 13,548 people received services through Utah's CJCs. The data in FIGURE 15 shows the percentage of victimization reported by the primary victim.

In 2010, questions regarding sexual violence (SV) and adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) were asked of the Utah population 18 years and older. The ACE Study is an ongoing collaboration between the Kaiser Health Plans' Health Appraisal Center and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The objective of the study is to assess the impact of numerous interrelated adverse childhood experiences on a wide variety of health behaviors and outcomes, such as violence.

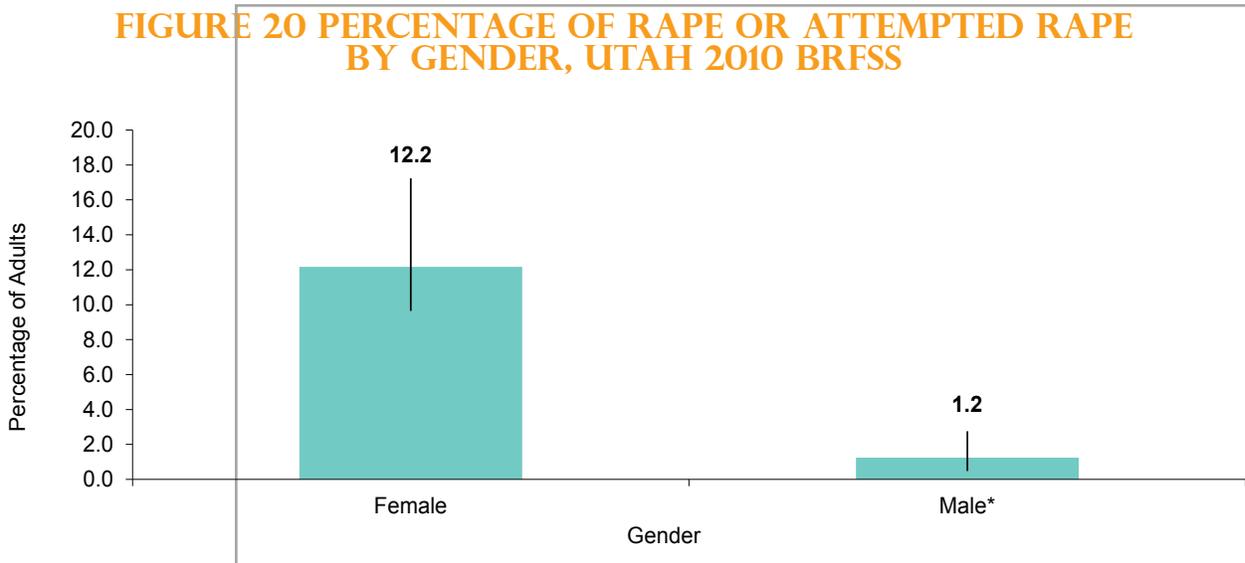

Table 9 shows the prevalence of adverse childhood experiences related to physical, emotional, and sexual abuse. Females were significantly more likely to have experienced some form of sexual abuse as a child compared to males. Of all Utahns, 18 years and older, 37.9% experienced emotional abuse as a child and 17.1% experienced physical abuse. The more ACEs a person experienced, the more likely they were to have experienced rape or attempted rape (FIGURE 21).

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING RAPE ANALYSIS

Data on the offense of rape are collected through the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) system established by the FBI. When using these data, it is important to remember that these summary data only list the most serious offense in a crime incident. Also, according to the FBI's definition of rape, the only offenses included are those where the victim is female. Forcible rape, as defined by UCR, is the carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Assaults and attempts to commit rape by force or threat of force are also included; however, statutory rape (without force) and other sex offenses are excluded. These data are compiled from the 2012 Preliminary Report which may change when the final report is published. A total of 971 rapes were reported to Utah police agencies in 2012.

RAPE PREVENTION AND EDUCATION

The Violence and Injury Prevention Program (VIPP) receives Rape Prevention and Education federal funds for small contracts with community based organizations to provide sexual assault primary prevention programs in their communities. In addition, VIPP established the first statewide crisis resource hotline in the Intermountain West, known as the Sexual Violence Statewide Crisis and Information Line (1-888-421-1100).

SEXUAL VIOLENCE

The Utah Coalition Against Sexual Assault (UCASA) advocates for programs and individuals that are engaged in sexual violence prevention and response in Utah. UCASA provides resources, training and technical support and facilitates the development of multi-disciplinary teams to respond to sexual violence throughout the state. Agencies and individuals served by UCASA include victim advocates, law enforcement, prosecutors, medical professionals, educators, clergy, therapists, rape crisis programs, domestic violence shelters, and university or college campus programs.

RAPE CRISIS ADVOCACY TRAINING

UCASA's 40-hour Rape Crisis Advocacy Training provides the required certification for sexual assault counselors to be covered under Utah's Confidential Communications Act. This training is also open to professionals or community members who want to improve their understanding of sexual violence and the impact it has on survivors. In 2012, 200 participants completed UCASA's Rape Crisis Advocacy Training.

SEXUAL ASSAULT RESPONSE TEAMS (SARTS)

A Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) is a partnership formed between public and private agencies to establish a coordinated response to victims of sexual assault that is victim centered and holds offenders accountable. SARTs ensure consistent, efficient, sensitive, and appropriate services that support victims of sexual violence and promote community safety through the development of protocols and identification of best practices. Each SART model is unique to the communities served. Currently, formalized SARTS are established in twelve Utah counties with several additional counties engaged in SART development. UCASA has partnered with stakeholders in these communities to provide training and technical assistance on SART sustainability, strengthening team skills and facilitating increased collaboration.

Listed below are counties with existing SARTs in various stages of team development and their team coordinators:

Cache County	Jill Andersen	CAPSA
Box Elder County	Penny Evans	New Hope Crisis Center
Davis County	Julie Stephenson	Safe Harbor
Salt Lake County	Leslie Miller	UCASA
Duchesne County	Marci Tucker	Duchesne Victim Advocates
Uintah County	Charles Crane	Northeastern Counseling Center
Utah County	Susan Chasson	UCASA
Sevier County	Heather DeMille	New Hope Crisis Center
Iron County	Sheena Clark	Canyon Creek
Tooele County	Lynn Smith	Tooele City Police Department
Washington County	Gabby Rodriguez	Dove Center
Kane County	Sandy Kerr	Kane County Victim Services
Grand County	Aimee Whipple	Seek Haven

Each of these teams is committed to meeting the needs of victims in a manner that is victim centered and trauma informed. The disciplines represented on each team include law enforcement, sexual assault examiners, victim advocates, prosecutors, corrections, and others agencies that serve sexual assault survivors. Teams work to identify the unique strengths and challenges in their communities for meeting the needs of survivors and insuring perpetrator accountability.

When a survivor of sexual assault experiences a compassionate and collaborative response, they are often more likely to seek services and participate in case investigation and prosecution.

UTAH'S COURT DISTRICTS

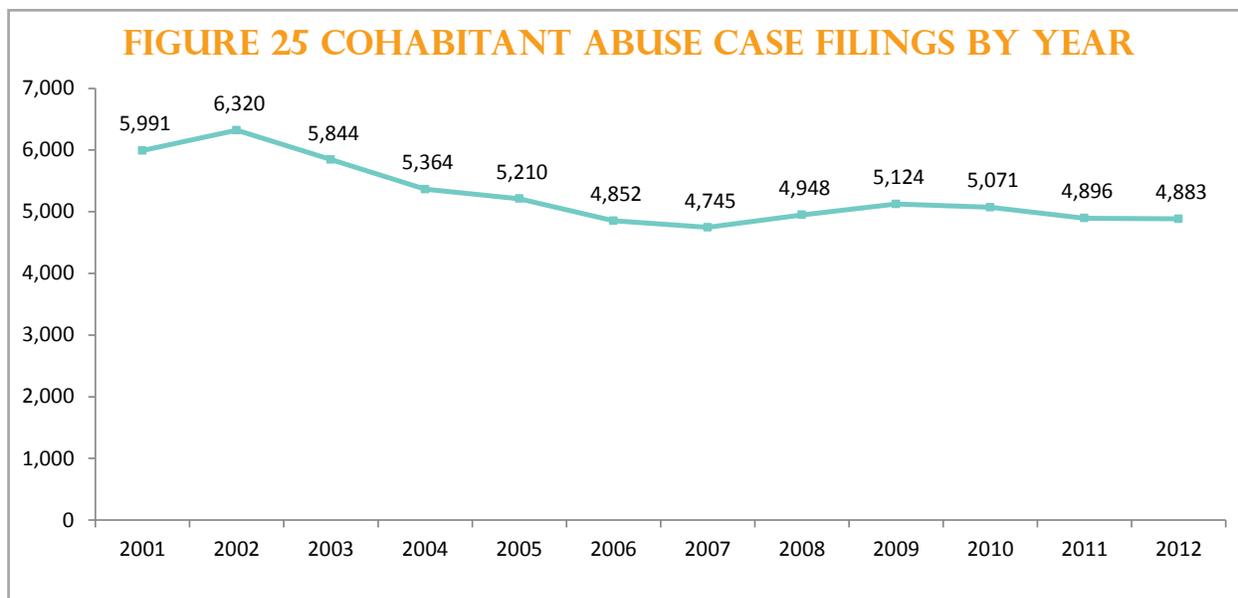

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) provides administrative services to Utah's court system, including the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, and the District Courts. Data used in this section of the report have been provided by the AOC for the District Courts. The District Courts are divided into 8 geographical regions.

Cohabitant abuse case filings are a civil case type where a petition for a protective order is filed. Cohabitant abuse occurs when there is abuse between people who have lived together; are related by blood or marriage; or, have a biological child in common.

FIGURE 25 shows a decline in cohabitant abuse cases filed between 2002 and 2007, the number of cohabitant abuse cases has leveled out over the past seven years. The data in TABLE 13 shows the number of cohabitant abuse case filings in 2012 was 4,883, an increase of 0.6% since 2006.

A protective order is designed to provide protection under the law for those affected by domestic violence. Protective orders are also known elsewhere as restraining orders. Protective orders prohibit the alleged abuser from contacting, threatening, or entering onto the property of the abused and other protected parties. A temporary protective order can be issued the day it is requested, without the alleged abuser, known as the respondent, being present. These orders are also referred to as ex parte protective orders. Temporary protective orders are enforceable from the time the respondent is provided a copy, until the hearing on the permanent protective order is held. The respondent is served a copy of the temporary protective order by law enforcement. It orders the respondent to refrain from harming or harassing the petitioner until a court hearing can be held where both the petitioner and respondent may be heard by the judge.

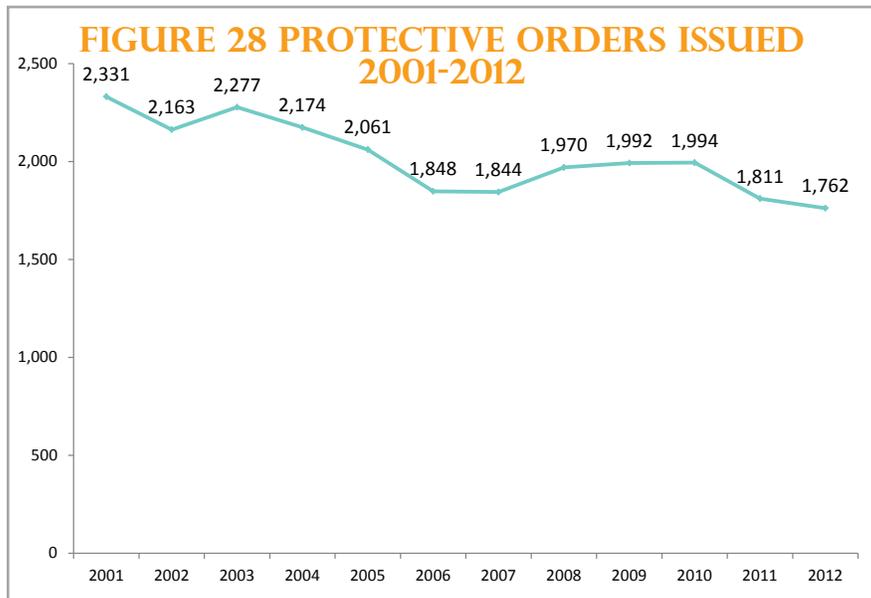

After a court hearing, the court may issue a protective order which includes enforceable criminal provisions that protect the victim for two years. Conditions in these protective orders are specified in Utah Code, Title 78B, Chapter 7 Protective Orders. FIGURE 27 shows the number of temporary protective orders issued by Utah courts from 2001-2012.

Stalking is generally described as a pattern of conduct directed at a specific person that causes that person to fear for his or her safety, the safety of another, or causes either person to suffer emotional distress.

FIGURE 30 shows the types of cases filed in 2012. Calendar year 2012 continued an upward trend of criminal stalking cases filed in Utah's courts with an overall increase of 16 cases over the prior year. However, the number of stalking cases that also involved domestic violence dropped by seven cases.
